A closer look at the changing OPPL board

Eric Skalac

Follow this and additional works at: http://dc.uwm.edu/orland_park_library_challenge

Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

Recommended Citation
http://dc.uwm.edu/orland_park_library_challenge/264

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by UWM Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Orland Park Public Library (Illinois), 2013 by an authorized administrator of UWM Digital Commons. For more information, please contact kristinw@uwm.edu.
Aside from potential write-in candidates, Joanna Leafblad and Christian Barcelona are expected to be the next Orland Park Public Library board members, following the disallowing of two other candidates who incorrectly filed their paperwork to run for the seats.

They are to join Nancy Healy, Denis Ryan, Diane Jennings, Catherine Lebert and Julie Ann Craig on the board.

Board member Beth Gierach was appointed to the board in February after former board President Carole Hillman resigned, and she is not running for a new term, accounting for one of the uncontested seats. She did not have any recommendations for the new board but said she “hopes the policy changes that were made in the last year remain in place, in terms of computer access.”

Some library patrons have criticized the library for not filtering content on computers designed for adult use.
“I feel strongly [that] not placing filters on the adult computers was the right thing to do,” she said.

Outgoing trustee Dan Drew said putting Internet filters in place was one of his main causes when he joined the board earlier this year, after former Trustee Mary Ann Ahl resigned. Though he was outvoted when the board took up the issue, he said that is not why he is not pursuing a new term.

“It deserves a lot of time, and there’s a lot that goes into this,” he said. “You know the library’s a great place, but once you really dive into it, it needs a lot of work. And I’m by no means retired and have the time to do that. It wasn’t fair of me to continue that. ... I have four young kids at home.”

Drew said the board faces continuous challenges, from issues with the library’s roof to maintenance to keeping taxes low.

“[Library Director] Mary [Weimar] and her team are doing a great job, but they also need the support of the board ... to try to help out with some of those areas,” he said.

As far as advice for the new board members?

“If they have common sense, I think they should be fine,” Drew said.

Candidate Joanna Leafblad — who initiated the process of having two candidates removed based on flaws in their candidate applications — said she is a longtime Orland Park resident who thinks the library is a wonderful tool for the community. She said she and her children visit the library often and she “likes how the whole structure of the library promotes cultural activity and learning.”

“I thought it would be really nice to be able to contribute to the community by keeping that going,” she said.

As far as the issue of Internet filtering, she said she can see the arguments on both sides but that she does not believe the library has been negligent.

“I just think it’s something we should be aware of,” she said. “And if people abuse the privileges the library provides, we have to consider what actions should be taken, if any.”
The Prairie will be speak to candidate Christian Barcelona in next week’s issue.

Add comment

You're currently logged in as: Michael Zimmer

Comment

More from The Orland Park Prairie

Police notified by FBI after Orland address appears on ISIS ‘kill list’

Township to host monthly immunization clinic

Poll workers needed in Orland Park for April 7 election

District 230 board meeting used to highlights academic achievements

District 230 Foundation ready to get its game on

Fashion is a Lifestyle: Men in shorts

A closer look at the changing OPPL board | The Orland Park Prairie
Most Viewed

1. District 230 board meeting used to highlights academic achievements

2. Police notified by FBI after Orland address appears on ISIS 'kill list'

3. Police Reports March 26, 2015

4. Fashion is a Lifestyle: Men in shorts

5. Eagles girls water polo still soaring, starts season 7-0

Publications

Chicago Southwest
The Frankfort Station
The Homer Horizon
The Lockport Legend
The Mokena Messenger
The New Lenox Patriot
The Orland Park Prairie
The Tinley Junction

Chicago North Shore
The Glencoe Anchor
The Glenview Lantern
The Highland Park Landmark
The Lake Forest Leader
The Northbrook Tower
The Wilmette Beacon
The Winnetka Current