

6-18-2009

Library upset about giving over public records

Ginny Maziarka

Follow this and additional works at: https://dc.uwm.edu/west_bend_library_challenge

Part of the Library and Information Science Commons

Recommended Citation

Maziarka, Ginny, "Library upset about giving over public records" (2009). West Bend Community Memorial Library (Wisconsin), 2009. 232.

https://dc.uwm.edu/west_bend_library_challenge/232

This Blog Post is brought to you for free and open access by UWM Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in West Bend Community Memorial Library (Wisconsin), 2009 by an authorized administrator of UWM Digital Commons. For more information, please contact open-access@uwm.edu.

Library upset about giving over public records

As we continue to see and hear from the media that parents asking for assistance from their local library are:

- book burners
- book banners
- censors
- bigots
- giving the city a black eye

...we should also take note that the library board brought the attention to the City of West Bend on their own volition by:

- refusing to respond to it's own policies
- putting off public meetings
- ignoring citizen requests to dialogue

Interesting how:

- The library board loves the city attorney's advice when it can be used as an excuse to get rid of citizens, but...
-
- hate the city attorney's advice when a citizen calls for compliance with open records requests, then...
-
- calling an emergency meeting on short notice (Where is the public notification? On a city hall or library bulletin board? Nice.) and stating they will hire (taxpayer dollars flying out the window) outside counsel to....what?

1. Try to hide open public records from the public?
2. Keep the public from learning something?

This is the same public library that follows the standard of "all things for all people."

Think about it.