Former Library Board members not bad people

Let's be clear on this, lest this get taken down a road it shouldn't by others.

We do not feel the library board members who were removed this week are "bad people". In fact, we feel they have worked hard and been faithful servants of their community. We thank them and we lend our appreciation for their past dedication.

We simply do not agree on this issue, and a very large group of this community, as well, does not feel they are being represented by them on this point.
